Student engagement is at the core of every great learning experience, and in the active classroom, student effort increases and the quality of work is all the better. In consulting the work of Suzy Pepper Rollins, participants will explore ways to design, manage, and maintain an active classroom.

With a series of student-centered, practical strategies for fostering an active learning experience, teachers can work to build curiosity, efficacy, and purpose in the classroom.

This workshop targets NYS teaching Standards I, III, and IV.
