

EMPOWERING STUDENTS TO OWN THEIR LEARNING

Session 1: August 13, 2018 - Session 2: November 1, 2018 - Session 3: April 1, 2019
CA BOCES Teaching and Learning Center at the Barn

Please attend all three sessions from 8:30 AM - 2:30 PM

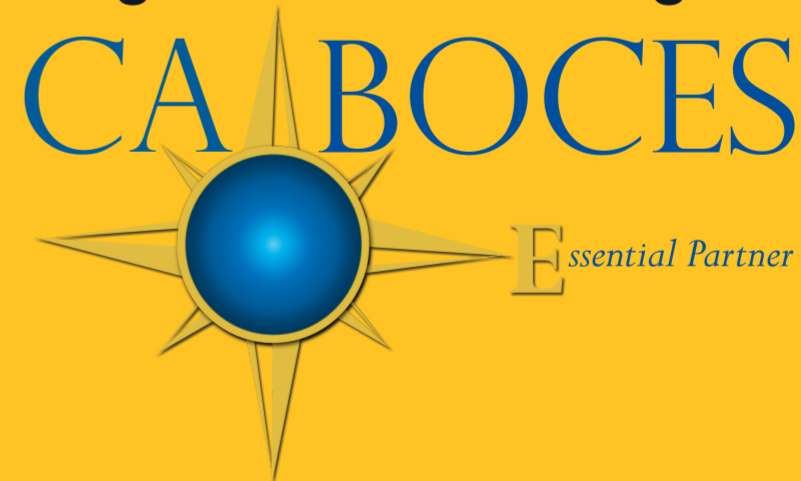

When we empower students, they crave learning that is both meaningful and relevant to their life, now and in the future, with opportunities to be unabashedly different and exceptionally remarkable. How does this fit in our world of standards, curriculum, and the every day realities of school?

Guided by the book Empower, we'll explore how we can overcome these challenges and turn them into opportunities to transform our teaching to become more student-centered and for our students to become self-directed in their learning. Over the three sessions, we will share thoughts, ideas, and plans with other teachers in this collaborative learning community and create a network of support and guidance in the journey to help students become more involved and engaged in their own learning.
