Description:

Participants will continue working through the “awareness” phase and work towards the “building capacity” phase in NYSED’s 3-phase process to implementation of the new Next Generation Math Standards. Participants will begin working on curriculum mapping for the new standards in order to help build their capacity to prepare for full implementation. Participants will have the opportunity to collaborate with others in order to ensure that they are meeting the requirements for the new standards.

Facilitator(s):

Kathleen Agnello, Mark Beckwith, Mark Carls, Jillian Putnam, Justin Shumaker

Objectives:

The participants will:

- continue becoming aware of the changes in the Next Generation math standards
- begin mapping the changes in the standards using the provided crosswalks
- begin to revise current curriculum maps in order to align them with the new standards

Audience:

Teachers: Grades K-12 Math, Instructional Coaches, Administrators
