Description:

Sketchnoting, is gaining popularity as an effective and engaging way to take notes and demonstrate understanding. Use Visual note-taking to supercharge your brain. Workshop participants will learn how to develop a doodling mentality and strategies to create your visual notes. You do not have to be an artist to create sketchnotes.

Facilitator(s):

Mark Beckwith, Brendan Keiser, Ryan McGinnis

Objectives:

Participants Will be Able to:

- Understanding what makes a good sketch-note
- Why sketch-note - what the research says
- The sketch-noting process step by step, different approaches and styles
- Classroom activities using sketch-noting to develop specific literacy skills
- Practical sketch-noting - Using structure, creating icons, drawing metaphors, using fonts and creating a visual library

Audience:

Teachers: All Grades, All Subjects, School Administrators, Instructional Coaches
