

Best Practices in Teaching: Techniques for Going from Good to Great

Teachers have a toolkit full of strategies and techniques for making their classroom all the more successful, and through this offering, educators will be given the opportunity to learn about some of the most beneficial tools that can take a teacher from being good to being great. Each session within the series will center upon a single theme, such as student engagement, and will highlight a myriad of strategies from multiple research outlets associated with such best practices.

Come for the whole series, or just for a part, the choice is yours!

The series will address NYS Teaching Standards II, III, and VI.
