

Inter-Rater Reliability

-Continuing to practice the art of teacher evaluation-

To support both new and experienced administrators in the processes of teacher evaluation, CABOCES is offering (3) online learning experiences to work toward continued inter-rater reliability. Each online experience is designed to have evaluators either collect, review, align, or rate evidence. Participants will be required to submit their work online, and complete a formal assessment of sorts to receive credit.

To assure that lead evaluators are consistent in their approach to the compilation of evidence, the alignment of said evidence, and the rating process, please join the online cohort!

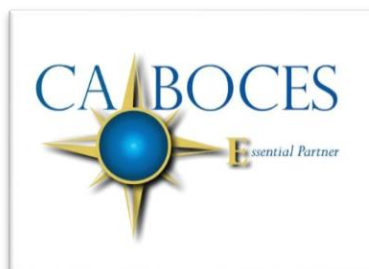

“Practice isn’t the thing you do once you’re good.
It’s the thing you do that makes you good.”
- Malcom Gladwell
