

Inter-Rater Reliability for Lead Evaluators

Inter-rater reliability is one of the assurances districts must commit to when signing off on their APPR for both 3012-c and 3012-d. These sessions are offered as a means for districts to engage in activities providing continued practice and feedback around reliably collecting evidence and aligning that evidence to their teacher practice rubric. Our sessions will focus on Danielson and NYSUT rubrics.

ALL SESSIONS—Dates Below
8:30—11:30 or 12:15—3:15
CA BOCES Teaching & Learning Center
at the Barn
Coffee and registration at 8:00.

Evaluators do not have to attend all three sessions, but we believe attending all three will provide evaluators with the greatest benefit.

October 6, 2015

During this session we will review the expectations and training needs of lead evaluators as well as provide some updates to APPR relating to 3012-d regulations. We will then examine evidence provided by those participating in the session. Specifically, we will review evidence for quality and alignment to appropriate components of the Danielson and/or NYSUT rubrics.

December 9, 2015

Participants will be asked to bring an actual observation report (with redaction of identifiers like teacher names, student names, etc.) for others to review. We will engage in structured feedback sessions with one another regarding the quality of the evidence collected as well as alignment to the Danielson and NYSUT rubrics. We will also begin discussions around the book, You Don't Have to Be Bad to Get Better by Candi McKay.

February 4, 2016

This final session will focus on more observation evidence provided by participants. The focus here will be on evidence and alignment, but will also continue conversations from the previous sessions around the book, You Don't Have to Be Bad to Get Better. In particular we will focus on how to structure conversations with teachers around feedback.

This is a COSER 529: Professional Development learning opportunity.
